

Why Pick Cedar?

The Cause

The Cedar Foundation is one of the oldest charitable organisations in Northern Ireland. It was originally established in 1941 to develop orthopaedic services for people with disabilities and was actively involved in service development for people with disabilities such as Mitchell House and Fleming Fulton special schools and the first residential facility for people with disabilities, Malcolm Sinclair House in Belfast

Cedar develops and delivers services to support children and adults with physical disability – congenital and acquired, including people who have acquired their disability through brain injury e.g. as a result of a car or sport related accident. Cedar currently has a number of service users who have acquired their disability through motorcycling accidents.

The Area

With 22 locations throughout Northern Ireland Cedar is a truly regional charity, every penny we raise is spent in Northern Ireland and in all areas of Northern Ireland.

Cedar offers services to disabled people in each of the Health & Social Care Trust areas and is always striving to develop new and innovative services throughout the province.

We recently opened our new North West Regional Resource Centre in Foyle and launched a brand new service in Belfast for children with complex healthcare needs.

The Experience

Cedar has a very experienced fundraising team who are well versed in organising various fundraising events from abseils to Zip Slides or even Zorbing. We also support local organisations or individuals who are raising funds for us.

Cedar relies on the generous support of the Northern Ireland community to help us raise funds to deliver services to children and adults with disabilities.
